

Creating a centralised SharePoint information hub Streamlining processes and workflows

EXECUTIVE BRIEF

Our client, Compassion UK, is a leading Christian children's charity founded in 1952. They partner with over 8,000 churches in 25 countries to help more than 2 million children, families, and communities.

Their SharePoint network had hundreds of sites so they required a centralised information hub to streamline their workflows across the organisation. We also delivered additional work to improve their SharePoint solution following the success of this project.

THE CHALLENGE

The client had an existing SharePoint solution which included 200 SharePoint sites across their network. With this many sites, it was difficult to navigate and they desperately needed to organise everything. Therefore, unifying these sites and creating documentation to navigate through the content was their priority.

Compassion UK wanted to know SharePoint best practices, specifically how to simplify access permissions and improve collaboration between teams and departments. Upon seeing our previous SharePoint solutions, they chose us as their SharePoint partner.

THE RESULTS

We delivered an information hub in the form of a comprehensive wiki for their teams to use. As a result, they were extremely satisfied with the work delivered and praised us for positive meetings and collaboration.

Our work impressed them so much that they decided to continue their partnership with us. We are now looking at improving their existing SharePoint solution as part of further work.
